

A French broker confirms its position on the international scene through the Energy Risk Commodity Ranking 2018

GREENEA was awarded, by the magazine Energy Risk, the first place in the category of best Research in Biofuels and second place in Broker in Biofuels. It is not the first time that a French company receives this prize winning against market players from Switzerland, the US or the UK.

The award is granted jointly by Energy Risk and 1500 professionals from the biofuels sector and, therefore, guarantees the quality of the service on the financial markets in the US, Europe and in Asia. It was first introduced 21 years ago to mark the quality of energy risk management and best practices in the performance and innovations of banks and other financial institutions but also traders and brokers working within the energy sector. This year's ceremony will take place in March in London. More than 100 participants from the biggest financial institutions in Europe are expected to attend.

Except for usual brokerage services, GREENEA offers its clients personalized market analysis to help them develop their market presence and make new deals.

Founded in 2007, GREENEA entered the market of biofuels made from waste such as used cooking oil and animal fat. During the last 10 years, the company has become one of the main players of circular economy in the field of biofuels. GREENEA's clients are located in Europe, Africa, South America and Asia. GREENEA strongly promotes international development of its clients and partners by encouraging communication in the over-the-counter markets.